DEVELOPMENT INDUCED DISPLACEMENTS: SOCIAL PROBLEMS AND HUMAN RIGHT VIOLATIONS

ASOORA.K*; MUNIVAR FAYARUS.M.A

*FACULTY IN DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE,
M.E.S MAMPAD COLLEGE.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR,
DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE,
M.E.S MAMPAD COLLEGE.

ABSTRACT:
Development refers to the situation where both material and quality living standard of masses will increase. The most fundamental goal of economic development seems to be to advance the welfare and wellbeing of the people. It is quite understood that a country can be developed only if its economic sector is developed but by affecting a vulnerable sector in the name of development is not development at all. So this study explains the process of development in the world.

KEY WORDS: Development, social problems, human right violations.

REFERENCES:

- Rakhi Moni Gogi and Thaneshwar, Paradigm shift: the situation of Development Induced Displacement in India, Asian Journal of Social Science and Humanities, Vol3(1), www.ajssh.leena-luna.co.jp

- Sarbeswar Sahoo, Tribal Displacement & Human Right Violation in Orissa, Social Action: A Quarterly Review of Social Trends, Vol.55(2)
• Shilpi Jain and Yogesh Dixena, Development Induced Displacement, Manupatra.

• Sudeesh Kumar, Development Project and Displacement; A case study of Developing India from an Indigenous perspective, Research Expo International Multidisciplinary Research Journal, vol.3(2), june-2013, www.researchjournal.in

• www.google.com