ABSTRACT

Human Rights are those rights which belong to an individual as a consequence of being human as a means to human dignity. They are based on elementary human needs as imperative. Some of these human needs are elemental for sheer physical survival and health, others. Human Rights have been described as touchstone of the development and recognized as the basic principles essential for development of individuals. Human rights are internationally accepted norms that recognize and promote dignity, fairness and equality for all people and enable individuals to meet their basic needs. These are universal legal guarantees protecting individuals and groups against actions which interfere with fundamental freedoms and human dignity. The present paper deals with a study ascertaining awareness of male graduates about human rights in Meerut district of Uttar Pradesh. For this purpose, a sample of 150 males from different colleges of Meerut was selected. The result shows that a large majority of male graduates, i.e. 74.7 percent are aware about Human Rights in the Meerut district of Uttar Pradesh.
